

For equal rights in Europe Become a member of AEDH

In a Europe where important choices concern more than 490 million people, the European Association for the Defence of Human Rights, AEDH, takes a stand and act on every grounds, including institutional grounds. It also acts to guarantee that all fundamental rights of EU residents are recognized in their universality, their indivisibility and their effectiveness. AEDH comprises Human rights protection associations of the EU and associates individuals. AEDH is an associate member of FIDH, the International Federation for Human Rights protection.

Being a member of AEDH, means promoting...

- A democratic and transparent Europe in which citizens have a real power.
- A Europe based on the respect of everybody's rights and liberties.
- A Europe that claims its concern for social equity, and that places economic and social rights on the same level as other rights.
- A Europe which chooses sustainable development and which respects environment.
- A Europe without discrimination
- A Europe opened on the world and that fulfils its international responsibilities.
